INDEX NO.

COMPLAINT

FLSA COLLECTIVE ACTION AND RULE 23 CLASS ACTION

DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL

Plaintiff alleges as follows:

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

1. This Court has original federal question jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1331 because this case is brought under the Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C. § 201, et seq. (“FLSA”). This Court has supplemental jurisdiction over the New York state law claims, as they are so related to the claims in this action within the Court’s original jurisdiction that they form part of the same case or controversy under Article III of the United States Constitution.

2. Venue is proper in this District because Defendants conduct business in this District, and the acts and/or omissions giving rise to the claims herein alleged took place in this District.

THE PARTIES

3. Defendant 184 3rd Avenue Restaurant Corp. (“184 3rd Ave.”) is a New York corporation that operates Gramercy Café in Manhattan.

4. Upon information and belief, 184 3rd Ave. has an annual gross volume of sales in excess of $500,000.

5. Defendant Elias Neofotistos is an owner of 184 3rd Ave.

6. Defendant Neofotistos exercises sufficient control over Gramercy Café’s day to day operations to be considered Plaintiff’s employer under the FLSA and New York law.

7. Defendant Neofotistos is regularly present at Gramercy Café to manage the restaurant’s financials and discipline employees.

8. Upon information and belief, Defendant Neofotistos created the payroll policies that are the subject of this lawsuit.

9. Defendant Neofotistos has the authority to hire and fire employees at Gramercy Café. For example, Neofotistos hired Plaintiff.

10. Plaintiff was employed as a busser at Gramercy Café from approximately July 2014 to June 2015.

FLSA COLLECTIVE ACTION ALLEGATIONS

11. Plaintiff brings the First and Second Claims for Relief as a collective action pursuant to FLSA Section 16(b), 29 U.S.C. § 216(b), on behalf of all tipped employees, including servers and bussers, employed by Defendants on or after the date that is three years before the filing of the Original Complaint in this case as defined herein (“FLSA Collective”).

12. At all relevant times, Plaintiff and the other FLSA Collective Plaintiffs are and have been similarly situated, have had substantially similar job requirements and pay provisions, and are and have been subject to Defendants’ decision, policy, plan and common policies, programs, practices, procedures, protocols, routines, and rules willfully failing and refusing to pay them at the legally required minimum wage for all hours worked. The claims of Plaintiff stated herein are essentially the same as those of the other FLSA Collective Plaintiffs.

13. The First and Second Claims for Relief are properly brought under and maintained as an opt-in collective action pursuant to § 16(b) of the FLSA, 29 U.S.C. 216(b). The FLSA Collective Plaintiffs are readily ascertainable. For purpose of notice and other purposes related to this action, their names and addresses are readily available from the Defendants. Notice can be provided to the FLSA Collective Plaintiffs via first class mail to the last address known to Defendants.

RULE 23 CLASS ALLEGATIONS – NEW YORK

14. Plaintiff brings the state law Claims for Relief (Third, Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Claims for Relief) pursuant to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (“F.R.C.P.”) Rule 23, on behalf of all tipped employees, including servers and bussers, employed by Defendants at any New York location on or after the date that is six years before the filing of the Original Complaint in this case as defined herein (the “Class Period”).

15. All said persons, including Plaintiff, are referred to herein as the “Class.” The Class members are readily ascertainable. The number and identity of the Class members are determinable from the records of Defendants. The hours assigned and worked, the positions held, and the rates of pay for each Class member are also determinable from Defendants' records. For purposes of notice and other purposes related to this action, their names and addresses are readily available from Defendant. Notice can be provided by means permissible under said F.R.C.P. 23.

16. The proposed Class is so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable, and the disposition of their claims as a class will benefit the parties and the court. Although the precise number of such persons is unknown, and the facts on which the calculation of that number are presently within the sole control of Defendants, upon information and belief, there are more than forty (40) members of the Class.

17. Plaintiff's claims are typical of those claims which could be alleged by any member of the Class, and the relief sought is typical of the relief which would be sought by each member of the Class in separate actions. All the Class members were subject to the same corporate practices of Defendants, as alleged herein, of failing to pay minimum wage, overtime, and spread of hours compensation, and failure to give required wage notices. Defendants' corporate-wide policies and practices affected all Class members similarly, and Defendants benefited from the same type of unfair and/or wrongful acts as to each Class member. Plaintiff and other Class members sustained similar losses, injuries and damages arising from the same unlawful policies, practices and procedures.

18. Plaintiff is able to fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Class and has no interests antagonistic to the Class. Plaintiff is represented by attorneys who are experienced and competent in both class action litigation and employment litigation and have previously represented plaintiffs in wage and hour cases.

19. A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy – particularly in the context of wage and hour litigation where individual class members lack the financial resources to vigorously prosecute a lawsuit against corporate Defendants. Class action treatment will permit a large number of similarly situated persons to prosecute their common claims in a single forum simultaneously, efficiently, and without the unnecessary duplication of efforts and expense that numerous individual actions engender. Because the losses, injuries and damages suffered by each of the individual Class members are small in the sense pertinent to a class action analysis, the expenses and burden of individual litigation would make it extremely difficult or impossible for the individual Class members to redress the wrongs done to them. On the other hand, important public interests will be served by addressing the matter as a class action. The adjudication of individual litigation claims would result in a great expenditure of Court and public resources; however, treating the claims as a class action would result in a significant saving of these costs. The prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the Class would create a risk of inconsistent and/or varying adjudications with respect to the individual members of the Class, establishing incompatible standards of conduct for Defendants and resulting in the impairment of class members' rights and the disposition of their interests through actions to which they were not parties. The issues in this action can be decided by means of common, class-wide proof. In addition, if appropriate, the Court can, and is empowered to, fashion methods to efficiently manage this action as a class action.

20. Upon information and belief, Defendants and other employers throughout the state violate the New York Labor Law. Current employees are often afraid to assert their rights out of fear of direct or indirect retaliation. Former employees are fearful of bringing claims because doing so can harm their employment, future employment, and future efforts to secure employment. Class actions provide class members who are not named in the complaint a degree of anonymity which allows for the vindication of their rights while eliminating or reducing these risks.

21. There are questions of law and fact common to the Class which predominate over any questions affecting only individual class members, including:

- a) Whether Defendants employed Plaintiff and the Class members within the meaning of the New York law.
- b) At what common rate, or rates subject to common methods of calculation, was and is Defendants required to pay Plaintiff and the Class members for their work.
- c) Whether Defendants paid Plaintiff and the Class members the minimum wage for all hours worked.
- d) Whether Defendants properly compensated Plaintiff and Class members for overtime.
- e) Whether Defendants paid Plaintiff and Class members spread of hours compensation.
- f) Whether Defendants provided Plaintiff and Class members with the proper wage notices.

FACTS

- 22. Plaintiff's consent to sue form is attached hereto as Exhibit A.
- 23. Defendants committed the following alleged acts knowingly, intentionally and willfully.
- 24. As a busser, Plaintiff worked between 46 and 56 hours per week.

25. The exact shifts that Plaintiff worked can likely be determined through discovery in this lawsuit, provided that Defendants preserved the records which are required to be maintained by law.

26. Defendants unlawfully paid Plaintiff and Class Members an hourly rate below the federal and state minimum wage for regular and overtime hours worked. Plaintiff's pay stubs reflect a regular hourly rate of $5.00, as opposed to the federal minimum wage of $7.25 and the New York minimum wage of $8.00 in 2014 and $8.75 as of December 31, 2014.

27. Defendants unlawfully failed to pay the Plaintiff one-and-one-half times New York State and federal minimum wage for all hours that he worked in excess of 40 per workweek.

28. Defendants were not entitled to reduce the minimum wage by applying the tip credit allowance that is available under 29 U.S.C 203(m) and 12 N.Y.C.R.R. § 146-1.3 because Defendants did not provide appropriate notice of the tip credit. The failure to provide appropriate notice of the tip credit also violated New York Labor Law.

29. Plaintiff's and the Class Members' workdays often lasted longer than 10 hours.

30. For example, on Fridays and Saturdays Plaintiff typically worked 12 hour shifts.

31. Defendants did not pay Plaintiff and other Class Members New York's "spread of hours" premium for every workday that lasted more than 10 hours.

32. Defendants did not provide Plaintiff with the wage notices required by N.Y. Lab. Law § 195. Specifically, Defendants did not provide Plaintiff with a wage notice when he was hired. In addition, the wage payment statements Defendants gave Plaintiff did not include, inter alia, the employer's name, Plaintiff's rate of pay, or allowances claimed as part of the minimum wage, and they did not list all of Plaintiff's hours worked and compensation paid.

33. Defendants committed the foregoing acts against the Plaintiff, the FLSA Collective Plaintiffs, and the Class members.
